Thus, Applicants believe that all of the pending claims are now in allowable form.

A Petition to Accept an Unintentionally Delayed Claim for Priority is submitted herewith. Applicants respectfully request entry of this amendment and acceptance of the priority claim.

REJECTIONS

AFFIDAVITS UNDER 37 C.F.R. §1.131 AND 37 C.F.R. §1.132

The Examiner has rejected claims 1, 3-4, 9 and 30-32 under 35 U.S.C. §102(a) as being anticipated by Doerr et al. 'Cross-connect-type wavelength add-drop node with integrated bank muxes, interleavers, and monitor' Doerr et al., Optical Society of America, 23-28 March 2003, p. PD33-1-3 vol. 3 of 3 vol. (v1+82+138) pp. 6 refs (hereinafter "Doerr").

Applicants submit that they conceived of and reduced their invention to practice, as presently claimed, prior to the publication date of Doerr article. In support of this submission, Applicants Christopher Richard Doerr and David S. Levy enclose an executed Affidavit under 37 CFR 1.131, which declares a conception date for the invention claimed in the above-identified patent application to be before March 23, 2003, and which demonstrates that diligence was exercised toward reducing the invention to practice. In view of this Affidavit, Applicants maintain that the Doerr article is not prior art to Applicants' invention.

Furthermore, Applicants submit that they are co-authors of the article entitled "Cross-connect-type wavelength add-drop node with integrated band muxes, interleavers, and monitor" by Doerr, Stulz, Levy, Cappuzzo, Gomez,

Wong-Foy, Chen, Richards, Pafchek, and Bogert, that they are familiar with the disclosure of the Doerr article, that they are co-inventors of the subject matter which is disclosed in the Doerr article, and that the other co-authors of the Doerr article, namely, Stulz, Cappuzzo, Gomez, Wong-Foy, Chen, Richards, Pafchek, and Bogert, were working under their direction to make circuits, and perform other tasks that they directed, in order to reduce the invention to practice on their behalf, and are not co-inventors of the subject matter described therein. In view of this Affidavit, Applicants maintain that the Doerr article is their own work and, therefore, is not prior art to Applicants' invention.
